

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Will the Russians attack this spring?

It's a nice question. But it seems to have been lost in the uproar over the big foreign policy debate. The debate, if it could be boiled down to a few simple questions, would go like this:

1. Should we refuse to send any troops to Europe until Europe has enough troops of its own to defend itself?

(Western Europe wouldn't have enough time between now and spring to build such a force.)

2. Should we send some troops to Europe but not before there is iron-clad evidence that western Europe will go all-out in building defense?

(Even if Europe gives such evidence, it can hardly assemble by spring a land force big enough to stop the Russians if they start.)

3. Should we go ahead with plans for sending troops to Europe, acting in the belief it will most earnestly begin building defenses?

(By spring this country couldn't pour any vast number of troops into Europe, no matter what the plans might call for eventually.)

It probably would be a couple of years before this country and Europe together could put enough ground troops in uniform to stop Russia.

It would be nice of the Russians of course, if they waited until western Europe's defenses were so built up Russia wouldn't dare attack.

Maybe Russia has different ideas. Western Europe is weak now and the Russians have about 4,000,000 men under arms and might be able to throw another 4,000,000 into uniform in 90 days after war started.

Since there's no public knowledge of what the Russians are thinking, it's possible they won't be ready to attack or, if they did, are afraid of what this country's atom bombs might do to them.

It isn't positive, of course, that the Russians intend to start a shooting war in western Europe at all, for if the Allies fall out among themselves Russia might be able to take over without a shot.

Senator Taft isn't convinced the Russians want to attack the United States. He said in a speech last Friday: "I do not myself see any conclusive evidence."

Still, Taft said, he thinks the possibility of a "destructive war against our liberty" is greater than at any time since the Revolutionary war and he thinks this country should prepare for war.

On the radio Sunday he said he thought creation of a great international army in Europe might induce the Russians to go to war and therefore be an incentive to war rather than a defense against it.

Whether President Truman thinks the Russians will start a war by spring, isn't known, or rather he hasn't said anything about it publicly. But this country's defense plans don't seem to be built around the expectation of an outbreak in the spring.

In his radio talk to the nation Dec. 15 Mr. Truman said the Communists are willing to "push the world to the brink of a general war" and "Europe and the rest of the world are in great danger."

He pointed out that at the time of the Korean outbreak this country had 1,500,000 men under arms, that now it has about 2,500,000 and he wants this raised to 3,500,000 as soon as possible.

But how many troops is the president planning to send to Europe and when?

When General J. Lawton Collins returned from a European trip Dec. 21 he told reporters some troops would be sent to Europe before next July 1, but he didn't say how many.

Anyway, if the Russians decide to move in the spring, the opposition on the ground won't be much; the western European nations won't have enough troops by

Trend on Taxes Being Watched

Business Anxious About Future Plans

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Businessmen are anxiously watching Congress today. They are waiting to see how much more in taxes it will seek to raise, what kind of taxes it will levy, and who will be called upon to pay them.

Will the major blow fall on business, through higher corporate income tax rates and stiffer excess profit levies? Will it fall on the individual, through higher income tax deductions from the paycheck? Or will it fall on everyone, through greatly widened sales, or excise, taxes on goods bought at the store?

Few believe Congress will try to pay all of the increased cost of rearmament out of new taxes. One guess here is that Americans will be asked to pay $10 billion more in taxes next year, and that the U. S. Treasury will borrow an equal sum to meet the mounting deficit.

Some see the budget next year rising to $75 billion. But some, looking at what the defense department is likely to ask for rearmament America and Europe, think before Congress adjourns it will have been asked to appropriate $90 billion.

For this fiscal year Congress voted just under $70 billion, although actual spending will run to around $47 billion. The treasury is expected to collect around $44 billion this year.

Whatever is appropriated for the next fiscal year, starting July 1, actual spending is expected to be around $75 billion. But government revenues, even without new taxes, are expected to rise to better than $50 billion. This is because fatter payrolls and greater corporate earnings growing out of the defense effort will be tapped by the higher tax rates voted by the last Congress.

For example, the excess profits tax as voted was designed to raise $3.3 billion. But many think that industry's earnings under the defense speed-up will yield $5 billion or more under this tax in the next fiscal year. And some expect an effort to be made to raise rates still higher.

Even with greater tax receipts, there will still be a treasury deficit of $20 to $25 billion to meet. The treasury may borrow from the government trust funds (Social Security and the like) and from the banks and individuals. But when Treasury Secretary Snyder confers with congressional leaders tomorrow he is almost certain to ask that they levy a greater tax toll on the national income.

Businessmen vary in their ideas as to how these new taxes should be levied. An increasing number of them are swinging over to the belief that a broader sales tax will be needed to supplement corporate and individual income taxes. Sales, or excise, taxes are already levied on a long list of "luxuries."

Sales Tax Hot Issue

The sales tax is politically unpopular because it hits everyone -- and everyone is a voter. Opponents stress that the sales tax falls heaviest on the low income groups. This is offset somewhat by the fact that in the last 10 years the general rise in incomes has been greatest in the low income groups.

Those who think a federal sales tax should be levied argue that in the defense program, with its great inflationary pressure, the government should encourage production and discourage spending. To do that, the government should tax consumption--through a sales tax--and not tax production -- then, and this country won't have enough there for there's been nothing to indicate it intended to provide all the troops necessary to stop the Russians.

through still higher corporation taxes.

Another argument that advocates of the sales tax use is: a selective sales tax, exempting food and lower-priced clothing and the like, is really less severe than an income tax, because the sales tax gives each individual some choice as to spending or saving, and that way does not tax that portion of a person's income that he saves.

Saving and increased production are the two best ways to attack inflation.

But Congress is likely to debate a sales tax with much more bitterness than it did the excess profits tax--which is politically popular.

About the only thing that seems sure is: one way or another, taxes will be going up.

Sen. Taft's Criticism Comforts Commies

PARIS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Senator Taft's stand against President Truman's foreign policy is very "comforting for all honest men who want peace," the Communist organ, l'Humanite said today.

The Communist organ didn't actually take the Republican senator to its bosom, however. It said Taft is "one of those warmongers for whom the fear of defeat is the

However, l'Humanite said Taft's speech plus the recent one of ex-President Herbert Hoover, reveal "the birth of an important current of opinion against the consequences of Truman's war policy."

The paper added that all this is important "for it is not only in the United States that one sees events opening the eyes of the Tafts and, in addition, those of honest men who for a moment were seduced by the war policy."

"In Europe, also, an evident panic begins to sweep even the most servile valets of the American warmongers."

Volunteers for First Aid Work Increase Here

80 Women Register; Sorority, Churches And Schools Enroll

Volunteers for first aid and rescue work classes for women are showing rapid increase. Interest also is being aroused among various groups for organization of special classes and the Washington High School is planning special efforts along this line.

James Yates, head of the Red Cross training work here, reported late Monday that 80 women in this city so far had registered for training. Their first meeting is scheduled for the basement of the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday at 7 P. M. when classes will be started.

Monday night, Yates talked to the Gradale Sorority about a class being started from that group.

Next Monday night, January 15, the central unit of the block Rosary group of St. Colman's parish will meet to organize a class.

Jeffersonville reports that nine women of that community have registered for first aid training. Mrs. O. L. Wiseman will instruct this group.

Supt. Stephen Brown and Arthur Wohlers, Washington C. H. High School principal, have planned that all students of the 11th and 12th grades which have been taking work in physical education are to be assigned review classes which will carry instruction in first aid work.

As soon thereafter as possible students of the 9th and 10th grades will be given special classes in first aid as part of their school work.

Marion PTA Meet Features Pie Again

Word is being spread around today among the members of the Marion School Parent-Teacher Association to bring pie to the meeting Thursday night.

But, for this meeting any kind of pie will do. The chairman of the committee said through the press reporter, Mrs. Martin O'Cull, that a "big time" has been planned and that the pies would be part of the refreshments. The meeting starts at 8 P. M.

At some of the previous meetings, word has gone out for special kinds of pies--once it was for pumpkin pies and another time it was for cherry pies. Always, Mrs. O'Cull said, "there were more pies than they could eat... and that's something because they can eat pies out in Marion Township."

Mrs. George Trimmer, the president, is to conduct the business session. Mrs. O'Cull said she knew of nothing of particular importance on the agenda. Thus, the impression was given that the refreshments -- the pies -- would be the highlight of the evening, just as they were for the others when pie was called for. "Every family is to bring at least one pie," Mrs. O'Cull said.

Mountain Lion Scare Created

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Warning that a big mountain lion is on the loose has roused people for miles around this eastern Pennsylvania town to an unprecedented alert.

George Keller, instructor at Bloomsburg State Teachers College and an animal trainer as well, told a radio audience yesterday the lion may have followed a herd of deer here from Canada. He said there may even be two, as lions usually travel in pairs at this time of the year.

Even as he spoke, bands of hunters stalked nearby woods. They continued their search in snow through the night, without success. There have been no reports of attacks on human beings, but several persons have said their dogs were killed by the lion. And early yesterday the lion, evidently trying to pounce upon a dog asleep on a farmhouse porch,

Will UN Prove Inadequate and Inefficient?

To United States fighting men--and their families, too--Korea means shot and shell, death and devastation. But in the UN atmosphere at Lake Success, Korea seems to mean something else, something almost unreal.

As U. S. dead strew the frozen terrain of Korea, the UN's 60-nation political and Security Committee listens quietly and at length to a man whom every UN member knows to be one of the world's most barefaced liars. It is Jacob Malik at his same vicious theme--the United States wants war, American troops are the aggressors in Korea.

At this futile and frustrated session, the American delegate, Warren Austin, said something once more about the United States remaining "ready to engage in discussions with the Chinese Communist regime at an appropriate time and in an appropriate forum."

"If hostilities continue," he said, "our troops will fight on in Korea." There had been so much obscure phraseology by tired diplomats that no one bothered to ask what he meant.

Then the political and security committee heard another speech--by India's Sir Benegal Rau, chairman of the Assembly's Truce Committee, reporting Red China's rejection of a cease-fire. It heard Sir Benegal enumerate the outrageous demands his truce team had received from Peiping, including admission of Red China to the UN.

Finally the committee adjourned for two days so that its members could "consult each other and their governments". About what? Is the UN proving useless in meeting a situation like this.

Meanwhile, U. S. fighting men are nobly trying to stave off an overwhelming enemy whose main bases of supply in Manchuria are shielded from U. S. air attack through fear that we will make Red China and Russia mad.

Isn't there too much talk and too little action?

Here's An Idea

One of the many rumors flying around is that two generals now working for Mao Tse-tung, dictator of Communist China, have hinted that if paid enough they might be willing to desert the Communist cause. That, for gold, they might order their armies to fight against Moscow.

Fantastic as this rumor sounds, maybe it should be looked into. Washington has been tossing billions around overseas, often with little if anything to show for them. Possibly with a few hundred thousand dollars it could buy a renewal of the Chinese civil war. If so, this would free the U. S. of Asiatic pressure and enable this country to prepare for the main enemy, Russia.

Apparently the commies bought some of Chiang Kai-shek's generals. If that's the way the Asiatics want to play the game, the United States--with far more money than Russia--ought to be able to take a hand.

With the skill Washington has developed in buying votes it ought to be able to buy a couple of commie generals with the greatest of ease.

Few Christmas necktie jokes have appeared in print but more than usual are being worn.

There is one big difference between Stalin and the late Hitler. Stalin has a heavier mustache.

If the Chinese know anything about Shakespeare, they will recall that while it's great to have a giant's strength, it's tyrannous to use it like a giant.

Washington official says women buy more beauty aids than they need. That can be taken either as criticism or a compliment.

Recent discoveries indicate civilization may be 2,000 years older than was supposed. No wonder it acts a bit tired at times.

GIs in Korea Grasp Facts of War

By Hal Boyle

WITH UN FORCES SOUTH OF SEOUL. —(P)—The American soldiers in Korea are getting more American every day.

It might be worth the salary of a couple of dozen good psychiatrists to make him even more so. They ought to be Chinese psychiatrists, for the Chinese are doing the most to teach him why he is here and what he is fighting for.

The more American he gets, the madder an American soldier becomes at feeling he is being pushed around--or that his own country is being threatened.

Under the blue and white flag of the United Nations he fought here for months without any idea of what it was all about.

In that respect, the American soldier was like the average American civilian. Who at home or here really felt in his heart what the war was about?

To be told they were fighting for the principle of the UN meant little to the first American troops here, because to them the idealism wasn't clear.

A boy from Kentucky did not see that as long as a grandmother in Seoul lived in fear his own grandmother in Paducah could not really live in safety--not at the speed the world is moving now toward chaos or unity.

How could he see it when his own grandmother didn't see it herself and perhaps complained because he was sent to fight in a far foreign war?

The army did make--and still is making--an attempt to indoctrinate American soldiers into the whys and wherefores that brought them here, and the reasons for their sacrifices. That campaign has hardly been successful.

"They give us a poop sheet a mile long full of 25-cent words about what we were fighting for," said one soldier in Korea has probably fought more often in obedience to orders than to express his own hatred of the enemy and what the enemy stands for.

The withdrawal forced upon his army by the entrance of the Chinese masses into war has changed all that. It has awakened the American soldier as nothing else could to the reality of the world Communist menace.

He did not like being pushed around at the start of the war by the more numerous forces of North Korea, but North Korea after all was only a small part of a small, divided nation.

Most soldiers realized after the first shock that they would in time get the extra troops and weapons needed to localize the situation. They did. The North Korean army was decisively and impersonally beaten.

"I could never see much reason for fighting over here for the United Nations," said one soldier, "but since the Chinese butt in, I feel I'm fighting for the U. S. A.--and that's another thing with me."

His attitude is typical--and it has already borne results. The Chinese have forced the American soldiers here from a nebulous world patriotism, that they didn't quite understand, back down to bedrock national patriotism, that they didn't quite understand--the defense of their own country.

That should have after-effects healthy for American solidarity in the long pull, whether it brings a decision here.

Unity vs Freedom of Speech

Mrs. Charles R. Keiser, of Columbus, Ohio, writes me:

"Who is subversive? The Republicans of this country, who while our president is laboring under a severe and terrifying period of strife and who needs every ounce of support and encouragement, discredit, insult and dishonor him. How Russia must be enjoying this display of patriotism in our 'democracy'."

This is an interesting point of view. I assume that it means that we are no longer to have two parties, but that there is to be a single official in charge of our country--either a benevolent despot or an unbenevolent one, a tyrant perhaps, or a dictator.

Also, there is to be no scrutiny, no examination, no study, no debate, no discussion, only obedience. Of course, both Hitler and Stalin forced that upon their people and perhaps Mrs. Keiser likes their way better than ours, or perhaps she does not understand.

stand the logic of her letter and just likes the little men from Missouri, which is her privilege.

But to get into that phrase, "laboring under a severe and terrifying period of strife"--are we not unified in that? What about the parents of the boys, alive and dead, in Korea? What about the young wives of reservists who wonder what will become of them and their children? What about those who are still to be called upon to wreck their careers in Eisenhower's European army?

There certainly is unity in the misery of our times and the president bears no heavier burden upon his spirit than the smallest among us.

There is unity in the terrific cost of these troubled times upon each family. This cost is represented in different ways: 1. taxes; 2. the constantly rising cost of living; 3. depreciated currency, which lessens the value of our savings, including insurance policies.

These costs are as great upon each of our families as they are upon Mr. Truman's family. So there is unity in that.

However, Mr. Truman is tax-exempt to a certain extent. He is the only adult, hale and working citizen of the United States who is so fixed by Congress, for while we must account for every dollar that we earn, he is freed from that necessity. Also, the cost of maintaining him in the White House with cars, private airplanes, private yachts, and so on, burdens the taxpayer with nearly $5,000,000 a year.

It would seem that when all of us are paying terrifying taxes, the president might become unified with the rest of the country by paying full taxes and cutting down his running expenses for which we pay. After all, no one should get rich out of these troubled times and the taxes are, according to him, fixed to stop inflation. The country would welcome unity on that score.

Mrs. Keiser further says: "...I did not vote for Mr. Truman. Nevertheless as soon as he took office I recognized him as my president and would support him to the last ditch..."

That again represents faulty reasoning. An American does not worship a human being as a God. We do not carry icons of our president through the streets as the Russians carry icons of Stalin.

To us, a president is a man who got elected. He may turn out to be a competent president or a dud. We have, in our history, had several duds. He may turn out to be a noble spirit of a vindictive self-server. He may have a breadth of view or a pettiness of nature. That is why those who wrote the constitution gave him a comparatively short term of four years and also provided means for his impeachment.

They understood that the glamour of an election may wear off in the day-by-day operations of government. Also, there could be no guarantee that a fine, wholesome, humble man might not get a psychosis on the job or take to drink or imagine himself Stalin, Hitler, Roosevelt and Churchill all rolled together in one small package. So they provided ways to get rid of him constitutionally. It is a wonderful device.

No! It is not a man for whom we should fight to the last ditch. We should fight for the United States of America. On that we are unified. And we are doing that even to the sacrifice of the lives of our sons.

Diet and Health Watch Out for Sign Of Child's Deafness

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

We are too prone to regard deafness, particularly if it occurs in early life, as inevitable and hence neglect many of the steps which might be taken to guard against it. As a matter of fact, it is possible to make an early diagnosis of many disorders which later lead to deafness. When this is done and treatment begun at once, serious damage to the ears may often be prevented.

Even those types of deafness which are present at birth could largely be prevented since so many of them are due either to infections in the mother while the child is still in the womb, or result from the use of certain drugs during pregnancy. Great care should be exercised in the selection of drugs given the expectant mother and she should also be protected from infections of all kinds.

Next Step

The next step in the prevention of deafness comes at the age when the common disease of childhood are rife. Scarlet fever, mumps, whooping cough, and measles can all cause deafness. But today, with the modern methods of immunization and treatment, none of them should.

All youngsters should be protected against whooping cough by injections of whooping cough vaccine.

Should whooping cough occur, prompt treatment with what is known as hyper-immune serum and some of the antibiotic drugs may prevent complications that lead to ear damage. Hyper-immune serum is blood serum taken from persons who have received repeated injections of whooping cough vaccine.

Mumps may be responsible for total deafness by infecting either the ear or the brain. Convalescent serum, that is, blood serum taken from a person who has recently recovered from mumps, given early in the disease, may be helpful in preventing these complications. Of course, the child should be kept at rest in bed until the mumps subside.

Certain complications of measles, such as inflammation of the brain or lining membrane over the brain, may also lead to destruction of the hearing. In a child, particularly one under three years of age, the giving of that part of the protein in the blood known as gamma globulin, may help to reduce the severity of the attack.

Perhaps the most common cause of deafness in childhood is the disorder known as otosclerosis. This is a condition which runs in families. Severe illness, glandular disturbances and emotional disorders may be contributory causes for this condition--that is, may tend to bring it on. Thus, if these things are prevented deafness may not develop. Even colds, when they are long continued, may cause some loss of hearing. For this reason, if no other, colds should be treated by a doctor who will have in mind the serious complications to be avoided.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. L. G.: Could dizziness be caused by nervousness?

Answer: Dizziness is not likely to be due to nervousness in itself. There are, however, many causes of dizziness, such as digestive disorders or disturbances of the eyes, the inner ear, the nervous system, or other similar conditions.

A thorough study by the physician is necessary to find the cause; then the proper treatment may be instituted.

Ohio Labor League Backs Sen. Taft

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9.—(P)—Considerable "Taft for president" sentiment cropped up at a meeting here yesterday of the Ohio labor league for Taft.

The league was formed to support the re-election of U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) and to give him a labor audience. It claims 10,691 members actively worked for Taft during last fall's campaign.

Howard Reynolds of Delaware, a league field representative in the campaign, put the Taft-for-president sentiment in these words: "We've started a job in 1950 that I hope we can finish in 1952." One local leader suggested a motion requesting Taft be a candidate for president, but Chairman Willis O. Hall of East Liverpool postponed any action until a future meeting.

NEW  Natural Gas RANGES

save time 6 ways

"CP" means "Certified Performance" with a saving of time as well as food and fuel. The busier you are, the more important it is to choose a new natural gas range that meets all the rigid performance requirements to wear the "CP" seal. For modern, efficient house-keeping you need a natural gas range that saves time these six ways:

1. The oven, broiler and top burners all light automatically. Just turn the knob for instant full heat.
2. Fast, high-speed giant burners establish new cooking speed heretofore unknown with any cooking appliance.
3. Non-rust burners are fast, easy and simple to clean.

4. New type top burners leave pans mirror bright, which does away with scouring bottoms of pots and pans.
5. Ovens and broilers preheat in double-quick time.
6. Greater usable broiler space can accommodate more food at one time, broils a whole meal.

See the new "CP" Gas Ranges at your dealer's. Choose from the various makes the size and style you like best. Start this week to enjoy automatic gas cooking that saves time six ways.

South Carolina Brookgreen Garden Nature's Living, Outdoor Museum

This boxwood garden is near the heart of the 10,000-acre Brookgreen Gardens of South Carolina.

By HENRY LESENE
Central Press Correspondent

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C.—The famous gardens of the South Carolina coast country such as Magnolia and Middleton and others, open from now on until May, have become known to generations of Americans and people all over the world.

A new garden, becoming better known each year, and distinctly different from the rest, is Brookgreen, a museum of nature's beauty. Not privately owned like the rest, it is open the year 'round and admission is free.

It contains the largest outdoor collection of sculpture in the world and it is an awe-inspiring sight in the middle of winter as well as in the spring, when the coastal country becomes a riot of color. Brookgreen is situated between Myrtle Beach and Georgetown, about 70 miles up the coast from Charleston.

MIDDLETON GARDENS, the oldest landscaped garden in America, and which this season is having its 200th anniversary; Magnolia Gardens, dating from 1890 and which the novelist John Galsworthy once called "the loveliest garden in all the world," and newer, other-worldly Cypress Gardens—these famous gardens near Charleston are known for their camellias and azaleas, quiet lagoons and wisteria-covered trees.

Sheep Population Of Australia Rising

CANBERRA — (P) — Australia had 112,891,000 sheep at March 31 last year, Commonwealth Statistician Roland Wilson reported. This is the latest date for which figures are available.

Australia's sheep population fell from 125,000,000 in 1942 to 95,000,000 in 1947, but since then has been rising steadily.

The statistician also announced in a statement that at March 31 Australia had 14,640,000 cattle, the highest number on record. This total included 4,890,000 dairy cattle. At the same date there were 1,123,000 pigs and 1,057,000 horses, Wilson reported.

Two Streets Here To Be Improved

State and City To Unite in Work

The state and city this year will resurface Leesburg Avenue from West Court Street to the corporation line and Lewis Street from Market Street to the corporation line.

These two streets are the only sections of state and federal routes that have not been resurfaced in recent years, and both are in urgent need of attention.

The city's portion of the improvement is placed at $9,200 and the work will be done next spring.

The State Highway Department has called for bids on the two projects to be opened January 30 at 10 A. M. The width of the streets varies from 22 to 26 feet.

A total of 4,389 feet of street is included in the improvement, which has long been needed.

The crown in Lewis Street from Market to Paint is to be cut away and the street placed in proper condition before the resurfacing is done.

City Manager W. W. Hill has been working on the project for the past year or two, and had plans and specifications prepared to make the projects possible.

Lunch Program Studied Here

Survey of County
Schools Is Made

A preliminary survey of the lunch programs in the thirteen county schools has been completed, according to W. J. Hilty, county school superintendent.

The survey is being conducted by Mrs. Jessie Obert, an instructor in food and nutrition in the School of Home Economics at Ohio State University. At the present time Mrs. Obert is on leave from the department and is working under a fellowship from the Institute of Nutrition.

This survey is the first step in a research study of the nutritive value and participation in the school lunch programs. Funds for this project have been supplied by the development fund of the University. This fund was set up by alumni for outstanding research in various fields of study.

In the preliminary study being conducted by Mrs. Obert, she has observed the lunch service in each of the schools, studying especially the food value, cost of the lunches and the number of children who eat lunch at the school.

This survey will be used to help iron out some of the problems

Homes Near Modern Utopia

In 1950 we began to see the modern Utopia that Mrs. Householder has been waiting for. We have embarked on a push-button era in the home, and double-duty furnishings which are space and time savers.

At the flick of a switch a kitchen gadget can produce a malted milk or an ice-cream soda for a youngster, compartments in the refrigerator freeze an entire week's dinner, garbage disposal units grind up waste matter, dish washers buzz and whir to protect Mom from dishpan hands. Ovens are built at burner height saving weary backs.

Streamlined sectional and built-in furniture are increasingly popular. Nests of tables which lock together can be used individually when necessary, offer space-saving possibilities to a small household. Upholstery which can be removed from its chair frame for cleaning and re-upholstery has made its debut. Arm chairs and ottomans combine to offer the comfort of a chaise longue, used separately offer two seating units.

Swivel chairs make life easier for the family moving man. Side-saddle chairs built with a graceful concave line over an arm permit a sitter to rest a leg gracefully over the side of a chair.

One three-in-one dining table opens to reveal a felt covered game table. Under the felt cover is a game board and recesses with compartments for chips and glasses.

Foam rubber mattresses, upholstery and cushions eliminate plumping as they retain their shape, are easily aired and cleaned.

Perhaps the greatest changes in the home are being realized in the trend to plastics. New three-dimensional surface and texture effects on plastic film and sheeting impart a depth that achieves improved appearance, feel, styling and color, opening endless avenues for use.

These materials are used in draperies, table cloths, place mats, upholstery and even lamp shades. They are said to be unaffected by mildew, resist oil, grease and al-

Lions To Leave Friday On Two-day Cage Trip

After completing their first round of SCO League play last Friday at Greenfield, the Lions of Washington C. H. will journey to the northern part of the state this weekend to play two games.

The squad will leave Friday morning for Ashland High School to play the team there that evening. They will go on to Galion Saturday to play another game.

This will be the only overnight trip the team will take this year.

Only the varsity will be making the trip and the boys will travel in four cars. Four members of the faculty of the high school will drive up to the game. They are Arthur Wohlers, principal Coach Harry Townsend; Coach Ronald Guinn and Coach Fred Pierson.

Wohlers has announced that any fans here who are going to attend the game at Ashland may call his office and have seats reserved. The phone number is 26251.

The 13 regular members of the varsity squad and the varsity manager, Harold Thompson will make the trip.

The motor caravan plans to leave the high school around 10:45 A. M. and will stay at the Hotel

Four Clean Sweeps In Fraternal Loop

There was not much to it when the teams of the Fraternal League took over the alleys at Bowland Monday night. Every one of the four winners made a clean sweep of its match.

A couple of the games were of the photo finish, but for the most part, the winners were put to little strain.

The highlight of the evening was Tony Capuana's 639—the top three-game total of the league for the season. To get it, he put together games of 178, then added a fat 253 and tapered off with a neat 208. A golf pro by summer, Tony uses the same precision style on the bowling alleys in the winter that he uses on the links in the outdoor sport.

Among the close games was the 812-807 win by the Rotarians in their finale game with the Mt. Sterling Boosters and the one-pin margin, 864-863, of the Eagles in their second game with the Universals.

The Elks made a clean sweep of their match with the Record-Herald outfit and the Country Clubbers, with the help of Capuana's 639, shut out the Thumas.

Skiers Do Something About the Weather

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y. — Who says people never do anything about the weather?

The management at the Bear Mountain sports resort will manufacture its own snow if the forces of nature do not supply any.

Specially made ice-crushing machines do the trick. They can make tons of synthetic snow to be dispersed all over the ski slopes, toboggan slides and trails.

Just as baseball and football have their night games, Bear Mountain will have night skiing. On Saturday nights powerful floodlights shine on three of the ski jumps.

Athlete of Year Is Ball Player

Konstanty Is Tops; Janowicz Second

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Jim Konstanty, record-setting workhorse of the Philadelphia Phillies' pitching staff, was proclaimed 1950's male "athlete of the year" today in the annual Associated Press poll.

The mild-mannered onetime school teacher, whose tireless right arm carried the Phillies to the national league pennant, won in a close vote over Vic Janowicz, Ohio State's magnificent football halfback, and Ezzard Charles, heavyweight champion of the ring world.

There was a wide difference of opinion among sports writers and broadcasters, who mentioned close to 100 athletes in all, including the race horse, noor, and Japan's human fish, Furuhashi.

Voters were asked to cast ballots for three in order of preference. Points were awarded on the basis of three for first and two for second, etc.

Substantial Margin
The bespectacled, 33-year-old Konstanty received 32 first place votes and a total of 173 points, 33 more than Janowicz, the bull-necked ball-toter who won all America and Heisman trophy honors.

Konstanty set the modern record for the most games pitched in one season, 74, and since these were all in a relief role he set a new all-time mark for rescues attempted.

He finished with 16 victories and seven defeats and was a natural for the national league's "most valuable" award, although no relief pitcher ever had won that distinction before.

Ezzard Charles, the lean Cincinnati heavyweight, was third in the balloting with 133 points. He gained favor by beating Joe Louis to gain undisputed U. S. recognition as the champion of the world.

Phil Rizzuto, the New York Yankees' sure-fingered shortstop and "most valuable" in the American league, was fourth with 120 points followed by two of golf's famous barnstormers—Ben Hogan and Sam Snead.

Here's the Standing
Here are the year's outstanding male athletes, according to the AP poll, with total points based on three for first, two for second, etc., and first place votes in parenthesis:

1. Jim Konstanty, baseball (32) 173
2. Vic Janowicz, football (20) 146
3. Ezzard Charles, boxing (21) 133
4. Phil Rizzuto, baseball (26) 120
5. Ben Hogan, golf (26) 112
6. Sam Snead, golf (16) 98
7. George Mikan, basketball (11) 69
8. Bobby Reynolds, football (7) 36
9. Babe Parilli, football (6) 31
10. Eddie Ford, baseball (4) 33

Three clean sweeps were recorded in the Ladies League bowling at Bowland Monday night. The Montgomery Warders, blanked Jean's TVs; the Loudner girls shut out the Dot Foods and the Kirkpatrick quintet whitewashed the Bowlerettes.

The only split decision came in the match between the Funk Restaurant team from Jeffersonville and Anderson's Drive-inners. The Jeffersonville girls won the first and last games.

Paced by Judy Wakman with a 512 three-game total, the Kirkpatrick quintet turned in the high team total of 2395 without handicap.

Oma Works Hard For Title Fight

—GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Lee Oma's face dripped real honest-to-goodness sweat.

With practically no prodding, Oma explained this historic event. The reformed playboy was dead serious about winning the heavyweight title from Ezzard Charles Friday at Madison Square Garden. He's really working.

You had to admit he looked better than a 6 to 1 shot. He seemed to be in as good shape as you can get at almost 35.

"Just give me another night like the night I knocked out Gus Lesnevich," he said, "and I'll surprise a lot of you."

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Emmett Dedmon, drama critic of the Sun-Times, today gave the nation's sports writers a collective kick in the pants for voting Notre Dame's 1950 football team "flop of the year" in sports.

"Last fall," wrote Dedmon, "these same 'experts' voted Notre Dame the probable 1950 champion."

"The sportswriters are blaming Notre Dame for a failure that occurred in the press box and not on the gridiron."

"They voted Notre Dame a flop because it didn't perform according to their very wrong estimates."

Dedmon concluded: "To me and everyone but the sportswriters, this made the experts the 'top flop of 1950' because they were so wrong in their predictions."

Tiger Cubs Win Circleville Tilt

WHS Junior Cagers Play Here Wednesday

Their spirits buoyed by their 38 to 36 victory at Circleville Monday afternoon, the Lion Cub cagers today were rarin' to go into their game with Hillsboro's Papooses in the WHS gym here Wednesday afternoon.

At Circleville Monday afternoon, the Cubs had a little difficulty in getting their offense rolling. They trailed 7-6 at the end of the first period and then got into high gear in the second.

By the end of the first half, the WHS boys had overhauled Tiger Cubs and gone into a 5-point, 18-13, lead.

But, the Circlevillians refused to throw in the towel. They kept right on scrapping; so did the Lion Cubs. By the end of the third period the boys from Washington C. H. had stretched their lead a scant one point, 32 to 26.

IT WAS IN THE LAST period that the metal and spirit of Coach Fred Pierson's outfit was put to the acid test.

The Circleville boys put on a desperate rally in the final quarter that netted them 10 points while holding the Lion Cubs to six. But, the WHS team was not after points in that last period; it was playing it safe and taking their shots only when the opening looked good.

In the end, team work and a never-say-die spirit paid off.

The Lion Cubs fed the ball to Whitley, the tallest boy on the team, and he came through by pouring 19 points, 16 of which were from the field. Horney was second in scoring with 10 points. Brown, with 9 points, was the only other member of the team to score.

Rooney tallied 16 points to lead the Tiger Cub attack.

Los Angeles Open Is Won by Mangrum

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Henry Rankom, who claims may fever is his worst enemy, may have found a second choice. It could be Lloyd Mangrum, who cost him the Los Angeles Open Golf title.

Ransom, like Mangrum, is a Texan transplanted to a professional's job in Illinois. They tangled in a duel on the back nine of the $15,000 tournament yesterday and Mangrum won the prize by a stroke.

Mangrum came from five strokes back to card 280. The Ransom could do, under terrific pressure, was 281. Sam Snead, last year's winner who played this tournament with a broken bone in his left hand, was third best at 285.

It was strictly a two-man affair at the finish. Mangrum, carding a four-under-par 67 on his final round, had disposed of Snead, Cary Middlecoff and other challengers along the way.

Gromek Is First Indian to Sign

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Jolly Steve Gromek, eager to get back on the mound for the Cleveland Indians, predicted today he'll pitch better baseball this season than he did under Lou Boudreau.

The 31-year-old Gromek was the first to sign a 1951 Indian contract (at a "slight" increase in pay).

"Boudreau didn't have any confidence in me. He didn't think I had enough stuff. I don't know whether he was right or wrong, but he sure made it tough."

Gromek drove all the way from Detroit to sign his papers yesterday, and he made no effort to conceal his pleasure that Al Lopez now has replaced the discharged Boudreau as manager.

Kentucky Coach Goes To Virginia

BLACKSBURG, Va., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Richard J. Holway, assistant line coach at the University of Kentucky, last night joined the Kentucky-to-Virginia Tech migration.

The addition of Holway to the Tech coaching staff was announced by Frank (Chesty) Moseley, new Gobbler athletic director and football mentor who formerly was backfield coach at Kentucky.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Holway is the second Kentucky assistant to follow Moseley here. Last Saturday, Moseley appointed to his staff Buck Chapman, former Augusta Military Academy coach who joined the Kentucky staff last July.

Bradley Cagers Are Rated No. 1

Oklahoma Aggies Second in AP Poll

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Bradley University held firm to the No. 1 position in the National Basketball standings today while Columbia created the only break in the first ten.

Bradley, riding the season's longest winning streak, drew 126 first place votes from the 252 sports writers and broadcasting participating in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Peaces of Peoria, Ill., amassed a total of 2,320 points, the year's highest, to take a 509-point lead over Hank Iba's hold-the-all Oklahoma Aggies.

The week's activities followed so closely to form that voters left nine of the first ten teams in the standings undisturbed from last week.

AFTER BRADLEY and Oklahoma A. and M. came Kentucky, Long Island University, St. Louis, Indiana and North Carolina State in that order.

Columbia's surprising Lions, 85-45 victors over Cornell last Saturday, moved into the No. 8 spot as a new talent, supplanting Villanova, which dropped to 16th. Villanova lost its first game to Fordham, 52-44.

Kansas State and once beaten Wyoming clung to the ninth and tenth positions, barely shading St. John's of Brooklyn and the University of Washington.

Bradley won two games since the last poll, beating Detroit, 69-65, and Drake 74-55, last night to increase its victory string to 15 games.

More Than 120 Attend Annual Scout Meeting

District Committee Picked; Certificates Are Presented Here

Some 120 Boy Scouts, parents and leaders were in attendance at the annual meeting of the Fayette County district Monday night in Fellowship Hall at the Grace Methodist Church.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the presentation of certificates to 14 persons who completed training courses for den mothers, cubmasters and scoutmasters.

Leo Fisher gave special recognition to scoutmasters, cubmasters and den mothers who help to make the Boy Scout program successful in Fayette County.

Rev. Paul Jones, pastor of the First Christian Church of Hillsboro, who was the principal speaker of the evening, told the group that there were three paths open to the people of America; the path of indifference, paganism or true religion.

He told of an experience several years ago when he visited his father a storekeeper in New Boston and in the offices of Dunn and Bradstreet in New York City. He related his impressions of a picture which he saw on the wall of the Dunn and Bradstreet office in New York which depicted the suffering of men at war, superimposed on a background of Christ.

Certificates Distributed

Mrs. Jean Nisley and a group from the Grace Methodist Church served a baked ham dinner.

Best Clue Yet

Early today, the New Mexico state police reported a man tentatively identified as Cook as sighted at Vaughn, N. M.

The man, very nervous and armed, got gasoline and drove off without paying, officers said the attendant told them.

He was headed east toward Clovis, N. M., in a black Chevrolet with a California license.

This report was the nearest direct new clue leading to the 24-year-old desperado, who blazed a trail of terror through Oklahoma and California, killing perhaps eight persons.

But the town of Cherryvale in southeastern Kansas was in an uproar last night after a 25-year-old woman reported a man answering Cook's description approached her car in what she thought was an attempt to kidnap her. She told Police Chief Albert Clark there was another man with him.

The woman, whose name was withheld, said she grabbed her car keys and fled into her mother's home before the men could stop her. Said Clark: "The whole town is aroused and the police station is filled with people who want guns."

Near Home Town

Adding to the hubbub in Kansas was the report of a service station operator in Pittsburgh—only 25 miles from Cook's hometown of Joplin, Mo.—that he had sold gas to a man resembling Cook last night. The car was described as a green 1947 Chevrolet with Oklahoma license plates.

Cook is wanted by the FBI for the desert slaying last Saturday of Robert H. Dewey, Seattle salesman, near Blythe, Calif., and for questioning in the probable killing of Carl Mosser, his wife and three children in Oklahoma. The search for their bodies continues near Okmulgee. Their blood-spattered car was found Jan. 3 near Tulsa.

Before Dewey's body was found, Cook had kidnapped Sheriff's Deputy Homer Waldrup, but released him unharmed after snarling: "I've murdered seven other people and I would just as soon murder you."

Waldrup said Cook also claimed to have buried two men in a snow-drift in Oklahoma.

"I (each person repeating own name) do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of Ohio against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will faithfully discharge the duties upon which I am about to enter."

"And I do further swear (or affirm) that I do not advocate, nor am I a member of any political party or organization that advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States or of this state by force or violence; and that during such time as I am a member of the Fayette County Civil Defense Corps I will not advocate nor become a member of any political party or organization that advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States or of this state by force or violence."

Ohio Girl Hunted in Greece; Held in Nunnery, Father Says

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Prosecutor George Velouzos said today search is being continued for raven-haired Simela Spyrides, 22, reported by her father to have been "enticed" into a Greek nunnery from his Toledo, Ohio, home.

The prosecutor also said the whereabouts of the former wife of Christo Spyrides, the father, was not known. She is reported still in Greece.

Simela Spyrides

"We do not know whether Simela's leaving her father was a family mixup or not," he added. "All we know is that he said in a letter that she had been enticed to leave against his will."

(Spyrides also said in Toledo recently that he was "fairly certain" his former wife was a member of the nunnery, but that he had no way of knowing whether his daughter also had joined. He said he parted in 1927 from his wife, whom he married in Greece in 1926.)

Velouzos said Simela joined the Julian Sect Karatea Nunnery on the Aegean in 1949, according to his investigation, but is now believed to be in hiding.

The father's letter, disclosed here on Jan. 6, said Simela was induced by a nun, Maria Zaphropoulos, to enter the nunnery. The nun was said to have gone to the United States in 1949 to collect a $10,000 estate bequeathed an inmate of the institution.

She, the Mother Superior of the Karatea Nunnery, and many other nuns are being held on charges of unlawful detention, abduction and fraud in connection with investigation of the Spyrides and other similar cases. Normally, persons entering a nunnery would be required to take a poverty vow and surrender their property to the religious order, in this case to the Mother Superior.

The Julian sect has a dogma identical with that of the Greek Orthodox Church, but celebrates religious holidays according to the Julian calendar. The sect is not recognized either by the Greek Orthodox Church or the Greek state.
